OPENING & CLOSING CEREMONIES

[Information will follow soon]

ARCHERY

The precision and skill of competitors, combined with the exacting standards of the competition, makes archery one of the most exciting sports at the Invictus Games.

The aim of archery is to shoot arrows as close to the centre of a target as possible, making archery a test of accuracy, concentration and strength.

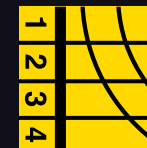

Recurve and compound events will be offered, with separate events for men and women, and with both individual and team events.

Ranking rounds will be followed by an elimination round, and then the finals. Competitors are permitted to shoot from a standing or sitting position, depending on their ability.

The ranking and elimination rounds of the archery competition will take place in the Invictus Games Sports Centre A +B and the finals will take place in the Invictus Games Sports Centre A.

| Archery     |                                |                   |                                    |                           |

ATHLETICS

Athletics is one of the most popular sports of the Invictus Games.

Competitors will challenge themselves over two days of track and field events at the Athletics track in the Invictus Games Park.

The following track events will be held: 100m, 200m, 400m, 1500m and 4 x 100m relay.

The following field events will be held: discus, shot put and long jump.

Competitors of all abilities may participate, and events are divided by the functional categorisation of the competitors with separate events for men and women.

INDOOR ROWING

For the Indoor Rowing event, a rowing machine is used to simulate the action of traditional watercraft rowing. Adaptive seats and hand grips are fitted to the machine to best suit the abilities of each competitor. There is a sprint race (1-minute) and an endurance race (4-minutes). Men and women compete in separate categories.

There are no qualification rounds, it is straight to the finals.

POWERLIFTING

The challenge as competitors try to lift the most weight is one of the purest measures of a competitor's ability, making powerlifting one of the most compelling sports at the Invictus Games. It is a strength-based competition where competitors are given three attempts to lift the weight.

There are three weight categories: lightweight, midweight and heavyweight, with men and women competing separately.

ROAD CYCLING

A 2.5 kilometre cycling track circles the Invictus Games Park and will host two road cycling events: the time trial and the criterium.

The time trial will see competitors race against the clock over a set distance, with the competitor with the fastest time winning. In the criterium race, competitors start together and the first to cross the line in each category wins.

Medals will be awarded in four disciplines: roadbike, handbike, recumbent bike and tandem.

The time trial and criterium are free to watch. A viewing area will be located next to the start/finish and there will be several places along the course to watch the competition.

SITTING VOLLEYBALL

Make no mistake, sitting volleyball is no leisurely pursuit. This team event requires lightning-fast reflexes as competitors hit the ball over the net with the aim of landing it in the opposing team's half of the court. Points are awarded to the team that wins the rally.

Playing on a smaller court than traditional volleyball and with a lower net, sitting volleyball competitors are positioned closer together on the floor. As mixed teams of six bump, set, spike and slide, they must have at least one buttock in contact with the floor at all times.

The pool matches will be held in the Invictus Games Congress Centre and the Invictus Games Stadium. The semi-finals and finals will be held in the Invictus Games Stadium.

WHEELCHAIR BASKETBALL

Wheelchair basketball has the same number of players, scoring system, ball, size of the court and height of the hoop as traditional basketball. Competitors must throw or bounce the ball after every two pushes of the wheels of their chair.

Men and women compete together in mixed teams, where categorisation plays an important role. In total 14 points are allowed on the court per team. A maximum player is 1 point, a moderate player is 2 points and an open player is 3 points. Categorisation plays an important role in the composition of the teams, assessing competitors according to the nature of their injuries.

All the matches will be played in the Invictus Games Stadium.

WHEELCHAIR RUGBY

Wheelchair rugby is a sport of speed and power and is an intense spectator experience.

Players gain points by carrying, dribbling or passing the ball to the opponent's end. Players have to touch the goal line with two wheels while in possession of the ball.

A team consists of four players on the court, with men and women competing together in mixed teams. Categorisation plays an important role, in total 10 points are allowed on the court per team. A maximum player is 1 point, a moderate player is 2 points and an open player is 3 points. Categorisation plays an important role in the composition of the teams, assessing competitors according to the nature of their injuries.
